

PROMOS 2027 Funding Rates

Please note:

For Canada, Russia and the USA, two different mobility grants apply: for the USA the division into East and West by the course of the Mississippi, for Canada by the border between Manitoba and Ontario and for Russia by the course of the Ural.

Until further notice, no funding is available for project activities with partner institutions in the Russian Federation and Belarus. This includes, specifically, the suspension of funding for student, PhD student, and teaching staff mobility to these countries.

Information on mobility with disability and/or chronic illness:

If additional expenses are to be expected abroad due to a disability and/or a chronic illness and other responsible agencies (e.g. social insurance agencies) have refused additional financial support, an application for PROMOS special needs can be submitted to the DAAD. If you have any questions, please contact the PROMOS team at RUB (promos@rub.de) at an early stage.

Calculating the PROMOS funding amount

The minimum funding period for study and research stays abroad is one full month, i.e. at least 30 days. A full monthly installment is paid for each full month. A month is considered full if the period extends from the first day to the last day of a month or from the first day of funding to the previous day of the following month. Examples: January 1 to 31 or February 15 to March 14. For partial months, the decision is based on the number of days in the respective month. For a partial month of 1 to 14 days half a monthly installment is paid. Starting on the 15th day, the month is considered a full month, and a full monthly installment can be paid.

Arrival and departure dates are not included in the funding period. Funding is provided exclusively for the actual study or research stay abroad (in case of a study abroad the exam period is included).
